Judges Hear Church and School Cases

Interesting Legal Questions Involved in Schoharie County Condemnation Cases Argued Before Judges of Appellate Division.

Two interesting cases arising out of the construction of the Schoharie dam and involving important questions of law were argued before the judges of the appellate division of the state on Thursday. They were the cases brought by the First Church of Glibbo and School District No. 1 of Glibbo in favor of the church and school district respectively being paid to them the amount of the condemnation award respectively by the state of New York.

The cases have attracted the attention not only of every resident of Schoharie county, but of many other parts of the state, because of their extraordinary character. In 1836, when the dam was first built, the owners of the land in the town of Glibbo and Broomfield in Schoharie county, and in lay of that year executed a deed to Winslow Paige, a farmer, and Barent Stryker, a lawyer, deacons, constituting the Schoharie Reformed Dutch Church of Dies Manor, in the town of Broomfield. The consideration was $10,000. The deed conveyed to the church and its successors in office a small lot of land for the sole purpose of keeping thereon a house of public worship and the necessary appurtenances and contained this condition:

"Excepting and reserving the portion of said premises to the said parties of the first part, their heirs and assigns, whenever the said parties of the first part or their successors in office shall cease to keep on said premises a house of public worship, the said premises, and this condition is upon the express condition so long as a church or house of public worship shall be kept on the premises, the same shall be kept and maintained on said premises, this grant shall be null and void, and no longer anything shall be contained to the contrary notwithstanding."

Subsequent to the giving of this deed, and shortly thereafter, a dam and damorage were built across the lot, which continued there until it was used as a house of worship at the home of the dominion of the said lot in 1917, when the property was condemned by the city of New York, for the purpose of the school house was occupied for the purpose until it also was taken by the city. Commissioners of the city awarded to the church $20,000 and to the school district $19,000.

Shortly after this award was made, Thomas O. H. Crosswell, a wealthy resident of Glibbo, through Arthur Brown of New York as his attorney, filed a caveat with the comptroller of the city of New York, objecting to the payment upon the ground that he was one of the descendants and heirs at law of Thomas O. H. Crosswell, who executed the original deed in 1836, and that he and the other descendants of Crosswell and Brance were entitled to the property. Thereupon the comptroller deposited the amount of the award with the Farmers' Loan & Trust company and the National Bank of New York to await the determination of the rights of the church and the heirs of Crosswell and Brance. The action was tried before Judge Grant at the equity term held by him at the court house in this city on March 12, 1923. Judge Grant of the court and Judge Clearwater, who were counsel for the church and the school district, introduced in evidence another deed given by the original Crosswell and Brance on the 4th day of December, 1841, five years subsequent to the deed to the church and the school district, by which those gentlemen conveyed to the heirs of Crosswell and Brance over a thousand acres of land in the towns of Blenheim and Broomfield, Schoharie county, for $30,000, which deed after describing the lands conveyed, contained this clause:

"Also all other lands and real estate in either of said towns of Broomfield and Blenheim owned or held by the parties of first part of either of them, including all reversion and remainder in and to the said lands, whether or not included in the above description or not, together with all and singular the hereditaments and appurtenances thereto in anywise appertaining, and the reversion and remainder, rents, issues and profits thereon, and also all the estate, right, interest, property, claim or demand whatsoever of the said parties of the first part, either in law or equity in the to the above described lands, with the hereditaments and appurtenances."

And they claimed on behalf of the church and school house, first, that the church having maintained a house of public worship, and the school district a school house, and

Program for Memorial Day

But One Big Assemblage This Year, On West O'Reilly Street—Judge Clearwater To Be Day's Orator.

A meeting of the committee on arrangements for Memorial Day exercises was held at the office of Superintendent of Schools Myron J. Michael, at the high school building on Thursday afternoon and after a full discussion it was decided that there should be one joint assemblage of all the citizens and school children of the city for the exercises, music and addresses, and to have same near the new part of the Wiltwyck cemetery on West O'Reilly street so that there would be easy access to both the Wiltwyck and Montrose cemeteries after the exercises for grave decoration purposes.

The Board of Public Works is about to repair that portion of Mary's avenue between O'Reilly and Andrew streets so as to facilitate the march from O'Reilly street to Montrose cemetery.

Heretofore there have been separate exercises at the various cemeteries after which the principal addresses commemorating the day were delivered at the City Hall, where seats and grand stand were erected for the occasion. This plan required the moving of the various organizations and the public from one place to another and, while marked enthusiasm always existed on the part of the schools and the public in paying their respect on this day to the Grand Army of the Republic and to the veterans of all the wars, it is nevertheless believed that the plan adopted for this year will produce even greater interest and tend for greater success of the day.

The grand stand and seats heretofore erected at the City Hall grounds will be set up for the convenience of the public on O'Reilly street and all of the citizens of Kingston and Ulster county are urged to be present.

The principal address of the day will be delivered by Kingston's distinguished citizen, the Hon. A. T. Clearwater, and arrangements for the line of march by the children of the city schools and patriotic organizations will be published as soon as they are completed.

FEDERAL AGENTS MAKE SEIZURES AT NEWBURGH

Kingston Man Said to Own One of the Businesses.

Federal enforcement agents visited Newburgh Thursday evening and made three arrests for alleged violation of the prohibition act, seized a $10,000 truck and 43 barrels of beer and served several Newburghers with papers to appear before District Attorney William Hayward in New York on Monday.

It developed Friday, says the Newburgh News, that the Devasto and Miller establishment, where the beer was seized, changed hands Thursday. The business formerly belonged to Michael De Vasto who disposed of it to his brother, Peter De Vasto, and Abe Miller. He retained the title to the real estate, which however was sold Thursday to a man named Murphy, who resides in Kingston. The latter has also purchased the interest of Peter De Vasto in the business.

conducted a school upon the premises until the city of New York stepped in by the exercise of the imperial right of eminent domain, and deprived them of their property, the clause of reverter was inoperative and inapplicable; second, that Crosswell and Brance, having conveyed the reversionary interest by the deed of the 10th of December, 1841, to John Keyes Paige and others, while that deed was ineffective, to convey to Paige and his associates the reversion to the church and school district property. It terminated all interest of the original Crosswell and Brance and of their descendants and was destructive of any claim to enforce the reversion on the part of their heirs. Judge Rosch in his opinion sustained both these views.

After reciting all the facts, he said: "It is clear that the original grantors attempted to convey their reversionary interest, and thereby terminated it. It is hard to conceive that when the last sale was made of all their real estate held either together or separately, that they intended to save any reversionary interest or right of reentry in the church lot, nor is the court unmindful of the fact that the church congregation did not intentionally violate any covenant or condition of reversion. A greater power brought about the termination of the use of the property for church purposes. The land was conveyed nearly a century ago, and it is not a fair inference, if not a presumption, that the consideration of $10 was full value. The award represents the savings and contributions of the church people of the community for nearly a century, and the existence of the community made possible the value of the land. The defendants at most showed that they claimed relationship and heirship to the original grantors, and the proof in that regard was far from impressing the court as of any substantial merit. Judgment is directed for the plaintiffs."

Judgment was entered on Judge Rosch's decision, and from that judgment the heirs of Crosswell and Brance appealed to the appellate division, where as stated, the case was argued Thursday by Judge Clearwater for the church and school district, and Arthur A. Brown for the heirs of Crosswell and Brance.

Modernists Stir M. E. Conference

Plan to Push Through Conference Changes in Course of Study for Ministerial Students.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Springfield, Mass., May 10.—Fundamentalists among the delegates at the general conference of the Methodist church are staging a warm fight against plans of the liberal group for changes in the courses of study prescribed in preparation for the ministry. Bishops have long favored changes and a special commission will make a report to the conference as a result of long study of the question. Dr. David G. Downey, of New York, editor of the Methodist Book Review, is a member of the commission and a leader in the plan. Changes that are in line with modernist thought in religion are contemplated through the proposed revision.

Judge Henry Wade Rogers, of the circuit court of New York is preparing a report to be submitted to the conference on the advisability of limiting the term of office of bishops to eight years. Judge Rogers is chairman of the judiciary committee of the conference. If the term of office is limited, a place will be given to many new bishops to take the places of veteran churchmen now holding office.

Members of the Central China delegation laid before the conference plans for a memorial to the late Bishop James A. Bashford, to be placed at Peking University in recognition of his services to China in securing the return of the Boxer indemnity and in the founding of the University.

Action will be taken on the plans by the conference following reports by the committee on memorials.

The Rev. Dr. Chadwick, president of Cliff University, England, was received today by the conference as the fraternal delegate of the Wesleyan Methodist Conference of Great Britain and Ireland.

Immediate response to plans for merger of Northern and Southern Methodists has come from Hobart, Oklahoma. A message was received by Dr. R. L. Wade, conference secretary, today stating that the two Methodist churches of that town representing the two branches of Methodism held a joint assembly on learning of the decision for unification and voted to build a union church, bringing together the two congregations.

GOVERNOR'S MOTHER REMAINS GRAVELY ILL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 10.—Mrs. Catherine Smith, aged mother of Governor Alfred E. Smith, ill with pneumonia at her daughter's home in Brooklyn, spent a comfortable night but her condition was still "very grave," physicians attending her announced today.

Governor Smith arrived from Albany late last night and remained at his mother's bedside until long after midnight.

U. S. Flyers Leaving Attu

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Cordova, May 10.—Successfully negotiating the longest hop of their Alaska trip, America's three round-the-world flyers were at Chicago, Island of Attu, today, preparing for the jump across the Pacific which will land them on Japanese soil.

The flyers arrived at Attu last night at 8 o'clock according to a relayed radio.

COUNT SALM LOSES HIS $40,000,000 BRIDE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, May 10.—American society circles, especially that section which thrives upon the gay night life of Paris, were startled today by a sensational report that the marriage of Count Ludwig Salm von Hoogstraeten and his heiress bride, Millicent Rogers, has ended in disaster.

Miss Rogers, accompanied by her father, Colonel H. H. Rogers, departed just before noon for Cherbourg to sail for New York upon the French liner France. Count Salm was not at the railway station.

Miss Rogers is heiress to a $40,000,000 fortune accumulated by her grandfather, the late H. H. Rogers, Standard oil official.

The collapse of the romance, which, for months occupied the attention of two continents, was as speedy and as sensational as the wooing and marriage in New York last January.

It was known for some time, however, that the nuptial affairs of the 33 year old count and his 19 year old bride were drifting perilously near the shoals, due to financial troubles. Both were "spenders" although the count never had the bottomless pocketbook that Miss Rogers drew from before her marriage.

DUTCH ARMS MEMBERS WILL VISIT KINGSTON

The New Paltz Dutch Arms with a membership of nearly 200 with their orchestra and double quartet will be the guests of Dr. Seeley's Men's Class of the Fair Street Reformed Church, Kingston, on Tuesday evening next, May 13.

The members are requested to meet at Tamney's Hotel at 6:30, new time. The members look forward to a very pleasant evening. Dr. Seeley has a warm place in the hearts of the men of this village and surrounding territory. He has been to New Paltz at the meetings of the Dutch Arms on several occasions and his brilliant speeches were much appreciated. New Paltz Independent.

AUTO CARRIED FROM COP SEVERAL BLOCKS FRIDAY

Friday evening an automobile ran into the iron standard at Main street and Clinton avenue and carried the standard away. This morning the standard was found by Officer Roedel lying in the street on Smith avenue, near Albany avenue.

The iron cop at the corner of Hasbrouck avenue and the Strand was hit and badly bent during the night.

TO RESUME BOXING AT POUGHKEEPSIE ARMORY

After a conference held in Poughkeepsie Thursday it was announced that boxing exhibitions will be resumed. The date for the next card has been announced as Thursday, May 22, when forty rounds of fighting will be on the bill. Future bouts will depend on the attendance at the next bouts.

Minor Auto Collisions.

Alex Cecelia of 218 North street reported that while turning into Fair street from John street Friday evening he collided with the car driven by Mrs. White, of the Up-to-Date Store on Wall street. Both cars were slightly damaged. Clarence Cross of 98 Clinton avenue reported a collision with a car at Orpheum Theater Friday evening. Later a car came from behind striking Cross's car as he was leaving the curb. There was no damage.

Our Growing Population.

The following births have been reported to the board of health: Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Harnen, Middletown, a son, Arthur Francis, at Benedictine Hospital.
Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Luedtke, 72 West Pierpont street, a son, Edward Joseph, Jr.
Mr. and Mrs. Michael C. Malone, of the town of Kingston, a son, Peter, at Kingston City Hospital.

Driver Without License, Fined.

Leon Bedicoat of Troy, was fined $5 by Police Justice Gardner on Thursday. Bedicoat was driving an auto truck through Saugerties without a license and was corralled by the Saugerties police. Bedicoat claimed ownership of the truck and said he thought he could drive it without a license. He paid the fine.

Pittsburgh Carmen Strike.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 10.—With on street cars operating here since midnight hundreds of thousands of Pittsburghers walked or rode to work in automobiles today following the walkout of 3,200 street car employees.

Franklin Street Zion Church.

There will be special services for Mother's Day at the Franklin Street A. M. E. Zion Church Sunday evening, at 8 o'clock.

Coolidge's Pile Of Trouble Grows

Bonus and Tax Bills Almost Ready for Vetoes That May Cost Him Presidency and Farm and Other Blocs Are Forcing Through Other Bills He Disapproves.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 10.—Troubles piled up today on President Coolidge's doorstep.

The stack is being increased almost daily by a congress that has taken the bit in its teeth and is impervious to the whip of party discipline.

The soldiers' bonus bill is on the president's desk, waiting for the "disapproved, C. C." that is to be written across its fresh pages.

It will be joined shortly by the new immigration restriction bill, excluding Japanese by federal statute on July 1, in which issue President Coolidge and Secretary of State Hughes have suffered the most pronounced defeat of the present turbulent session of congress.

And in another two weeks the 1924 tax reduction measure, so torn and scrambled in its tempestuous passage through congress it has lost all semblance to the plan originally proposed by the president and Secretary Mellon, will take its place on the presidential desk and invite a veto.

The McNary-Haugen farm relief bill, setting up a $200,000,000 government buying corporation to stabilize prices, may be a late starter in the trouble sweepstakes. It is disapproved by the administration, but if the farm bloc can have its way—and it thinks it can—the measure is going to be put up to Mr. Coolidge within two weeks.

Each of these measures is fraught with political consequences for the president as a candidate to succeed himself.

The bonus is certain to be vetoed and almost as certainly will be passed over his veto. What the effect on the "soldier vote" will be is problematical, and a question upon which opinion is divided among the president's political mentors.

The tax bill probably will meet a veto—and it is not likely sufficient votes can be found to pass it over a veto. The prospects of a Republican candidate vetoing lower taxes, for which a nation-wide sentiment has been built up in the last six months, in the heat of an approaching election, are sufficient to give many Republican leaders apprehensive shivers. They ask themselves whether consent of the voters, strong as they are for lower taxes, will be directed toward the executive who vetoed the bill, or toward the congress that refused to adopt the kind of a tax bill the executive wanted. November holds the answer.

On the immigration bill opposition is divided as to what will be the president's action. He has sustained a severe defeat at the hands of congress. Administration spokesmen in the final throes of its passage in the house warned that if the president was defeated on the Japanese exclusion issue he would veto the whole bill. On the other hand, Republican senators who usually speak for the president, declared privately today he would accept the inevitable and O. K. the bill.

Mr. Coolidge has been advised that if he vetoed the measure, it would "cost him every electoral vote west of the Rockies." His defeat on the exclusion aspect was accomplished by the Pacific coast members, who voted solidly against him.

The McNary-Haugen farm bill, which the farm bloc claims enough votes to pass, will provide a last minute thriller to a hectic session. Republican members of the west are committed to it irrevocably. The political possibilities of this bill are enormous.

Another test between the executive and congress is scheduled for Monday when the Bursum pension bill, which the president vetoed this week, is called up for passage over his veto. Its proponents claim enough votes but its opponents deny they can be secured. To impartial observers it appeared today the Bursum bill depends upon a margin of two or three votes either way in the senate and in the house the outcome is similarly doubtful.

ATLANTIC AND PACIFIC TEA COMPANY CONVENTION.

The managers of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company stores in this territory will meet in convention Sunday at the Albany plant of the company on Tivoli street. It is expected that the attendance will number about 350 managers. A new coffee roasting plant will be demonstrated. The Kingston managers under the leadership of Assistant Superintendent J. T. Burke will proceed to Albany in a body, arriving there Sunday afternoon.

POUGHKEEPSIE PLUMBERS MAY SETTLE BIG STRIKE.

Settlement of the journeymen plumbers' strike in Poughkeepsie may shortly be effected. The strike has lasted over a month. The men asked for a $10 a day wage scale instead of an $8 scale. It is said that the plumbers' demands may be modified.

Lally Gets Two Days.

John Lally of this city was found drunk on Railroad avenue Friday evening by Officer Murphy. This morning Judge Schirick gave John two days at 1818 Wall street to regain his sobriety.

Police Seized $3,000 Worth Of Shirts Here

Sergeant Phinney Armed With Search Warrant Obtained by President Blanck, of Kingston Shirt Company, Had Busy Friday Afternoon.

Friday morning Ned Blanck, president of the Kingston Shirt Company, with factory located over Kennedy's garage at Broadway and East St. James street, paid a visit to the city hall, accompanied by his attorney, Thomas F. Coughlin, and obtained a search warrant from City Judge Harry E. Schirick to be used in recovering a quantity of unfinished shirts valued at $3,000.

Mr. Blanck alleged that the unfinished shirts, approximately 150 dozen, had been removed from the factory by Hyman Katz and Moe Rosenblum, two of his employees.

The search warrant was turned over to Sergeant Phinney, of the police department, who spent a busy Friday afternoon rounding up the missing shirts. It was thought that some had been stored in an old factory on Field Court, but all the sergeant found there was some empty cases.

Further search disclosed that the missing shirts were in a building on Prince street. There were three large cases filled with shirts which the sergeant seized and had placed in an auto truck and removed to Bacharach's warehouse on Smith avenue, where the shirts have been stored until the matter is decided in court.

This morning by consent of both parties the matter was adjourned for one week by Judge Harry E. Schirick.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATRES:

The feature picture at Keeney's theater tonight is Joseph Hergesheimer's story, "Wild Oranges," which has been making a hit with the movie fans. The entire action of the story occurs in the swamp lands that border the Georgia coast.

A fine vaudeville program and the feature picture "Supreme Tests" is the attraction at the Kingston Opera House this evening. The five vaudeville acts shown have been pleasing the patrons the last half of the week, and the picture is also good.

At the Auditorium today Dustin Farnum in "The Man Who Won," a romance.

Tonight for the last times the photodrama, "The Lullaby" will be shown at the Orpheum Theater. There are also five vaudeville acts on the bill. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday "Judgment of the Storm" is the feature. It is a powerful drama of love, with a great cast of players. Also five new vaudeville acts featuring daredevil Reynolds, who while during his engagement here, will scale some of the highest buildings in Kingston. His stunts on some of the roof's edges is said to be marvelous.

SEASON OPEN IN THE "OLE SWIMMIN' HOLE"

Three youngsters opened the bathing season in the Rondout creek this morning near the old Skillypot slip on the Sleightsburgh side. The creek was a rich coffee color from the mud washed down by the night's rain so they probably needed a bath worse when they came out than when they went in. Other youngsters celebrated the Saturday school holiday by catching big strings of perch in the creek.

Publisher Dead.

Boston, May 10.—Edwin Atkins Grozier, publisher of the Boston Post is dead here following a long illness. He was formerly managing editor of the New York World.

THE MATTRESS

"It's hard not to get any appreciation," said the mattress to the bedposts.

"It is," said the bedposts. They did not say much. They were rather stiff and of few words.

"The Dreamland King sends beautiful dreams, I know," the mattress continued. "He deserves the appreciation he gets. I am willing he should get it. Quite willing."

"But I don't seem to get any appreciation at all. And many of my family suffer in the same way."

"Same with our family," said the bedposts.

"You see," said the mattress, "people are all tired out when they come to me. They're tired of staying awake. Or if they are not all tired out at least they are feeling that they need a rest anyway and that a rest will be good for them."

"Or if they do not think that about themselves some one else thinks it for them."

"But they look forward to the dreams the Dreamland King may send them. And they don't begin to appreciate that in the first place I make it so comfortable for them that they feel like seeing the Dreamland King and of hearing what he has to tell them."

"They hardly ever say a kind word for the mattress and it is just a shame."

"It is seldom when you get up in the morning that you hear them say: 'Well, that comfortable mattress is a joy.'"

"No, they speak of a refreshing sleep and of how much better they feel and of pleasant dreams they have had but they don't say a word about me."

"Once in a great while some one says when there seems to be no other conversation about—if that is the way one speaks of conversation—that I'm a good, strong mattress and a comfortable one."

"But those times are very, very seldom."

"Usually they are at dull times, such as housecleaning time, when maybe I'm given a little bit of the springtime and am allowed out on some benches with a nice green lawn beneath and a nice blue sky above."

"I need that little bit of springtime for my life is not very joyous when you think that hardly a pleasant thing is ever said of me when I keep on giving all the rest and ease I can."

"They don't speak of us," said the bedposts. "And yet they'd be in a pretty state of affairs if it weren't for us."

"They wouldn't like to be on the ground, or on the floor."

"We're quite sure of that. Yet they don't say a friendly word for the bed-posts standing so straight and keeping them safe from falls.

"But we're forgetting. Even if they don't appreciate us we will never let them fall."

"No," said the mattress. "And neither will I do any other way than I have always done."

"Besides, you very seldom see anything else, poor bedposts, and I do get 'tired,' as they call it, out the window."

"Yes, I get a whiff of air and my mattress self feels much better for it. And I'm changed and turned over every day or so, and that is a great comfort."

"I don't like being in just the same position all the time."

"No mattress does. But I still think that a mattress is treated pretty badly when it gets a little credit for what it does."

"But then, alas, such is life! And I'd rather be a mattress than bedposts. I like a lying-down position. I could never bear it standing up all the time."

"But we wouldn't want to be lying down," the bedposts said. "After all, there is something to be said in our favor. And we wouldn't want to be fire-escapes and exposed to all kinds of weather."

"I suppose the fire-escapes would hate to be indoors all the time," the mattress said. "Yes, we all have our complaints, but I don't suppose, when it comes right down to it, we'd want to change places with anyone. I wouldn't even want to change places with the Dreamland King. I could never be so advantageous, nor have so many ideas!"

FOODS THE CHILD MAY EAT

Rich desserts and candies should not be given the growing child. Their love for sweets may be satisfied by a few dates, figs, prunes and such fresh fruit as the season furnishes. Their desserts should be simple and easy of digestion.

Oatmeal Bread.—Add two cups of boiling water to one cup of oatmeal and let stand for one hour; add one cup of molasses, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-half of a yeast cake dissolved in one-half cup of lukewarm water and four cups of bread flour; let rise, beat thoroughly, turn into buttered bread pans, let rise again and bake.

Mock Angel Cake.—Mix and sift one cup of sugar, one and one-half cups of flour, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one-third teaspoonful of salt, four times. Pour on gradually while stirring constantly two-thirds of a cup of scalding hot milk. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs and add one teaspoonful of vanilla. Turn into an ungreased angel cake pan and bake in a moderate oven forty minutes.

Puffed Rice Brittle.—Cook until smooth in an enameled pan one cup of sugar until clear and brown. Stir into the syrup one cup of puffed rice and pour onto a greased plate to cool. Mark off into squares and break. Puffed wheat or popped corn may be used in place of the rice. With the addition of a few nuts one has a richer confection.

Graham crackers put together, with peanut butter, with a glass of milk make a good lunch for a child. The crackers alone with the milk will be often all that is needed.

Flax Ketchup.—Take a pint of cold cooked fish well flaked, add two chopped, hard-cooked egg whites, season with salt, pepper, onion juice and a little kitchen bouquet, add a cup of hot-cooked rice seasoned with three tablespoonfuls of butter, mix well, pile in a hot dish and sprinkle with sliced egg yolks.

Navajo Monument in Northwestern Arizona

The Navajo national monument is within the great and little known Navajo Indian reservation in northeastern Arizona. It comprises tracts of land, each of which contains the ruins of a remarkable prehistoric cave pueblo or cliff dwelling in a good state of preservation. These are known as Betatekin (the Navajo name of side-hill house), Kiltill (meaning broken pottery) and Inscription house. The latter ruin derives its name from an inscription scratched into the clay plaster of a wall. It reads: "Shapheiro Ano-Dom 1681."

Betatekin is situated at an elevation of 7,000 feet in a great cave 450 feet long, with a maximum depth of 150 feet, in the side of a soft, red sandstone cliff, which forms the walls of a most picturesque and beautiful canyon, says the Detroit News. The cave roof projects far out over the village, which originally contained 120 rooms and occupied every foot of building space, but is so high that swirling storms have caused shrubbery to grow up to the very foundations of the ancient homes.

Kiltill is the largest of the cave pueblos and is appropriately named, as the open spaces between the apartments are strewn with broken pottery of the finest type produced by the ancient cliff dwellers. The village completely fills a cave 550 feet long and 50 feet deep. There are 148 rooms in all. Similar circular ceremonial chambers or kivas at the front of the cave and below the level of its floor indicate that the tribe occupying it was different from the clan that lived at Betatekin, as in the latter there are no rooms of this type. Kiltill is situated in a wooded canyon, the walls of which are warmly colored.

A MAGNIFICENT TRIBUTE.

A great many regard the recent tribute paid to Calvin Coolidge by Nathaniel Elsborg, retiring president of the National Republican Club of New York, as the finest, truest, and most appropriate that has been rendered since Mr. Coolidge entered public life. It is terse and to the point, and well merits wide publication.

Characterizing President Coolidge as "a man of plain living and high thinking, of dry humor and hard-headed honesty," Mr. Elsborg said:

Here is a man with none of the arts or graces which have been deemed part of the necessary capital for a political career; a man who in a vocal age is only vocal when real occasions make demand for it; a man with neither the dramatic touch which other leaders have possessed, nor the captivating personality or the appealing eloquence which have helped other men to power. He is strong because while his face is lifted to the stars he keeps his feet firmly planted on the ground.

The people of the United States are very weary of pomp and panoply, handshaking, baby-kissing, and all the arts and wiles of the political demagogue. They are ready for sterling integrity in administration and conscientious and painstaking effort to run the government engine at the highest efficiency without any devil-stunts and appeals to hysteria. They want a president who is just the sort of man that Mr. Elsborg portrays and President Coolidge is just that sort of man.

DAUGHTERS AND SONS.

Senor Don Francisco Sanchez La Tour, the Guatemalan Minister to the United States, told a good one recently at the observance of "Pan American Evening" held by the Daughters of the American Revolution in Washington. In concluding his address he said:

"Before closing let me say that we of Latin America are closer neighbors of the Daughters of the American Revolution than some of you might think. When a gentleman from one of our countries was visiting this city he was driven down 17th street and when he passed Memorial Continental Hall he was told it was the building of the Daughters of the Revolution. Shortly afterwards he drove past the Pan American Union and when given the name of the building he said, 'Oh, yes, the sons of the revolutions.'"

Happily the sons of the revolution have quieted considerably in recent years, and have turned to the more practical and constructive vocations of life. We still have some disturbances in one or two of the Latin Americas, but Latin American sympathy for such disorders, generally the result of personal ambitions, is fast waning. They are looked upon as child's play in the family of nations, and the disturbers are being admonished to "cut it out" and take on the responsibilities of national manhood. The time is not remote when those admonishings will be heeded, and when they are heeded the distracted countries may depend upon the aid of the United States in getting down to business. Nor will it be a policy approved by the American Government to exploit the Latin Americas—to take the meat out of the coconut and leave them the shell. Helpful cooperation, the benefits to be shared by all, and without one thought for territorial aggrandizement, should be the policy, and probably it will be. The late President Harding set forth the ideal in his address at the unveiling of Bolivar statue three years ago.

THE OLD WAR PENSION VETO.

In his veto of the increased pensions of Civil War veterans President Coolidge is consistent as well as courageous, for he has repeatedly declared that reduced taxation is necessary and therefore large new expenditures must be avoided wherever possible. Although the War for Secession ended 59 years ago, the Union Soldier pension bill, instead of gradually decreasing, has already increased until it amounts to more than a quarter of a billion dollars annually. The annual payments are now no less than the huge sum of $263,000,000, and the additional $38,000,000 for the first year of the vetoed bill would raise the amount to $321,000,000.

Prior to 1920 all the survivors of a war ending nearly 60 years ago who had suffered no sort of injury were receiving a pension of $30 a month, but in that year the amount was increased to $50 a month. Veterans who had received some injury were receiving larger pensions running up to a maximum of $72 a month to any veteran requiring personal attendance. At the same time soldiers' homes offered a refuge to all veterans without families. The bill the president has vetoed increased the pensions of veterans who had received no injury and suffered only from the ordinary infirmities of age from $59 to $72, with increase also to their widows. The inconsistency of such prodigality with the call for economy and tax reduction is obvious.

It seems to be expected that this veto will be followed by a veto of the soldiers' bonus bill, and consistency calls for it, but greater courage will be required because the voting strength and influence of the old war pensioners are now small in comparison with that of the World War veterans.

According to a Topeka dispatch to the New York Herald-Tribune, the political action of the Sunflower State in November will depend on the crops. If they are good Mr. Coolidge can count on its electoral vote; otherwise he is likely to lose it. They must be credulous folk out in Kansas. When a political party claims to be the author of good times, including plentiful rains and good crops, it hardly expects to be taken quite literally in every particular.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

DON'T WAIT FOR PAIN TO AROUSE YOU.

You have read so much about the dreadful effects in the body of the poisons from the roots of the teeth, and pyorrhea—pus—in the gums, that you have perhaps thought that the doctors and the dentists were magnifying this matter.

Unfortunately it cannot be magnified, because next to the intestine itself, there can be no doubt that the tonsils, teeth and gums cause more infection than any other part of the body.

You will remember that when a poison goes down into the stomach, and has to fight its way through the processes of digestion in the intestine and liver, that a good deal of the harm is taken out of it. But from the roots of teeth, and from the gums, the harmful substances go directly into the blood stream, and thus small amounts can set up serious trouble.

And so when you go to your physician you will likely say, "I don't know what's the matter with me, but I don't feel up to the mark. I don't seem to eat right, sleep right or take the proper interest in anything. I can't say I'm sick, but certainly I am not really fit. I am not myself."

In the old days, if you could afford it, you were advised to rest up a bit, or take a vacation. Now one of the first things your physician does is to look into your mouth.

It may be some suspicious looking teeth, some crowns that have been on for years, or possibly pyorrhea. Sometimes it is a pair of bad tonsils.

Instead of sending you on a vacation he sends you off to get an X-ray of the teeth. The films will show up the trouble, and the removal of a tooth or two and the cleaning up the gums is at once indicated.

You know you are sound enough, that you have no organic trouble, because your insurance examinations have revealed this. That was what puzzled you.

But when you realize that with infected roots sending their daily quota of poison directly into the blood, and also indirectly along with the food into the stomach and intestine, you can see that you are up against a stiff proposition to keep fit.

Now it may be a bad liver that is making you feel tired and disinterested in life, but if you have been in the habit of visiting the dentist only when you have a toothache, your trouble is likely in your mouth.

Bronze 2,400 Years Old

A splendid likeness in bronze of a Greek horse of 2,400 years ago, has been added to the collections of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York. The horse weighs 23½ pounds and measures 13 1/8 inches in height by 14½ inches in length. It is an admirable expression of the greatness of Greek sculpture, which was at its best in interpreting human and animal forms. It is interesting to note how the probable date of the sculpture is fixed. Numismatists claim that the coins of a period generally fall ten years behind the sculpture. This would place the year 470 B. C. as the most likely date, as comparison of the bronze statue with the horses of the chariots on Syracusan coins of the period 500-450 B. C. would indicate.

Give Recital

Mrs. Cubberly, Mrs. Johnston, Miss Claffin, Mr. Brigham and Harry P. Dodge Delight Church Audience.

The recital given at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church on Friday evening under the auspices of the Sunshine Class of the Sunday School, by Kingston artists was one of unusual merit and delightful throughout. So appreciative was the large audience, of every number given, that encores followed each number and Mr. Brigham was twice recalled.

The soloists were Mrs. Florence Wolfert Cubberly, violinist; Mrs. Benjamin Johnston, soprano; Miss Georgianna Claffin, reader; Harold S. Brigham, baritone; and Harry P. Dodge, accompanist.

Mr. Brigham opened the program by singing "Vulcan Song," from Gounod's "Philemon and Baucis," a song well suited to Mr. Brigham's fine voice and he was enthusiastically applauded. He gave a little Irish song as an encore. Later, Mr. Brigham sang "The Old Road," by John Pringle Scott, so much to the liking of his audience that two recalls were given and he sang a negro song, "Didn't It Rain," and "I'll Keep a Good Grip on my Hoe."

Miss Claffin gave as her first reading, Act III, Scene II—"Joseph and his Brethren," from "In the Palace of King Pharaoh," by Louis N. Parker, a dramatic selection requiring much versatility on the part of the reader as well as dramatic power. Miss Claffin was admirable in her presentation of the various characters in the scene, holding the closest attention of her hearers who insisted upon an encore number. Another, and one of the best numbers of Miss Claffin, was Arthur Guitermann's "The Quest of the Ribband," a delicious piece of modern poetry. Her last selection, "Katy Did," was given with piano accompaniment, played by Mr. Dodge. It was so charming that she gave another piano accompanied selection as her last number.

It is always a pleasure to listen to Mrs. Johnston's singing—probably the Freeman's musical reporter has said the same thing before and it will be equally true if said again. Her first two songs were most appropriate to the season. They were "Springtime," by Greene and "In a Rover," by Nevin. The list of songs was in both songs; there was music, and there was beautiful interpretation and Mrs. Johnston and Mr. Dodge were promptly recalled.

Mrs. Cubberly, throughout the evening, played with spirit and her usual musicianship, delighting her audience with the quaint "Londonderry Air" by Kreisler and the always lovely waltz by Brahms, arranged by Rochester. Her encore selection was contrastingly brilliant. When Mrs. Cubberly played again it was a vivid, colorful varied selection, a "Mazurka," by Zarycki, and Mrs. Cubberly, accompanied by Mr. Dodge, played it splendidly as she did her encore number.

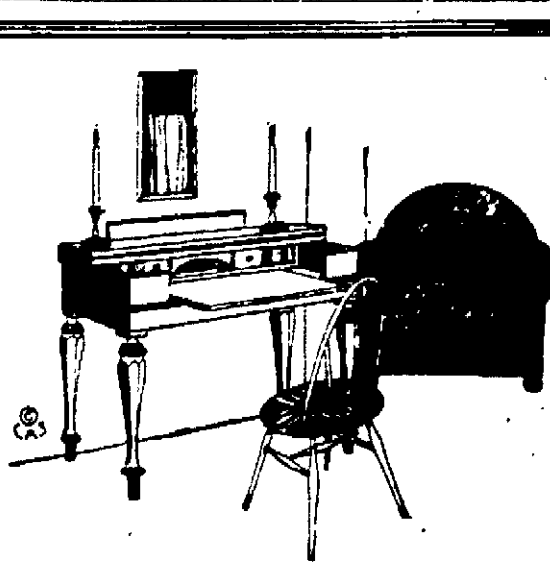

The delightful entertainment came to a close with two songs "Pastorale" by Navson-Marks, and "Dreams" by Strelzki (with violin obligato played by Mrs. Cubberly) sung with fervor and musical finish by Mrs. Johnston.

Much of the success of the evening's performance was due to the excellent accompanying of Harry P. Dodge who was constantly at the piano, except for two or three of Miss Claffin's readings.

LOCOMOTIVE ENGINEER.

The first railway locomotive in America was the "Stourbridge Lion," which was imported from England in 1829 for use on the Carbondale and Honesdale railroad of the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company, and was driven on its first trip by Horatio Allen, a celebrated engineer who was born in Schenectady, N. Y., one hundred and twenty-two years ago today. Allen was employed as chief engineer by the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company, and his trial trip with the Stourbridge Lion marked the first and only time he ever played the role of a locomotive engineer. The English-built engine was found too heavy for the track it was to be used upon, and

He was the inventor of the swivel car truck and other improvements in railway appliances. He died in 1882. The Stourbridge Lion was so called because it was built at Stourbridge, England.

MARY CUTLER.

In the days before the war there was celebrated in the small towns of Lancashire, England, the anniversary of a curious event that took place on May 3, 1789. The celebration is in honor of a young woman, Mary Cutler, by name, who on that day completed a journey of one thousand miles which she had waded to do in one thousand hours. She did it in very much less time. It seems that the countryside was very much interested in speedy travelling, probably because of the boat made by some one at some time, which boat was carried by word of mouth all over the neighborhood. It was during the days of heavy betting on the part of the men and women, it seems, are not adverse to laying wagers. At any rate, along came Mary and laid a big bet with some sports in the neighborhood that she could travel the distance mentioned above in the stated hours. Everybody ridiculed her. Such a thing was unheard of. Just how she did it history fails to mention, but it is evident that she did it either on horseback or in a coach or both. They had no railroads in those days and high powered motor cars, why even the mention of such a thing would have sent one to the madhouse. Anyway, Mary completed the journey in a little more than two-thirds the stated time and when she returned to her native town the people strewed flowers in her path.

CONFEDERATE MEMORIAL DAY.

In South Carolina, May 10th, the anniversary of the death of General Stonewall Jackson, is observed as Memorial Day, with fitting honors and ceremony flowers will be laid on the graves of the Heroic Dead of the Confederacy.

The ceremonies of the day will follow closely those observed by other southern states on April 29, which is also celebrated as Memorial Day in many parts of the south, for that day is the anniversary of the day upon which Gen. Joseph E. Johnston made the Gallant South's last surrender. Flowers play a conspicuous part in the ceremonies of the South's Memorial Day, as they do in the north. In this sense the sunny south is fortunate in being able to observe the anniversary earlier than the north because the flowers bloom so much earlier there than they do on the other side of the Mason-Dixon Line.

THE HOME LAUNDRY PROBLEM ELECTRICALLY SOLVED

Modern Mondays are Blue it is for some Other Reason than Because of Washday

Probably no invention has done more to emancipate the housewife from the electric washing machine. It is a little what type or make of machine one uses, the fundamental rules of washing, electrically, are the same. They are really very simple and do not differ much, if at all, from the old-fashioned method of washing clothes. The important difference is that the machine relieves the back-breaking rubbing and wringing.

Tests Evolve the Following Methods.

Many tried out numerous ways of washing, the best results were obtained by going according to the following rules: Wash the night before in warm soapy water, soaping the hands, cuffs of clothing, and particularly spots and stains. Next fill the washing machine to water line with very hot water, two cupfuls of soap jelly or flakes run the machine for one or two minutes to mix the solution thoroughly. Then put in all dainty pieces, because these are seldom stained badly soiled, and therefore can be washed in the machine. Keep a stiff nail brush handy and when washing across a stubborn stain or dirt, soap it and scrub until it comes off. Most acid stains can be removed with lemon juice and salt, but for ink stains it is best to use dilute hydrochloric (muriatic) acid. When the first batch has finished, wring it out into a hot rinse, put the next batch into the machine and continue until all is finished. It is often a very good thing to use the water for the different pieces, particularly after the table linen has been washed. This is always a little greasy, and for that reason the water should rarely be used for anything else. Run the machine about fifteen to twenty minutes for each batch of wash, depending entirely on its condition. If it is very dirty run it about twenty minutes and when only soiled fifteen minutes is enough.

When the wash of white clothes is finished drain the water from the machine, rinse it and run in luke-warm water and then give the clothes a final rinsing, running the machine about three minutes.

No one kind of bluing may be recommended to the housekeeper. She must experiment for herself, choose one good variety, and learn to use that one properly. Wring the rinsed clothes into the bluing water and continue to do this until all the wash is properly rinsed. One must be careful, however, not to overload the machine. The safest way is to make as many batches of the rinsing as you did of washing.

When the rinsing is completed, drain off the water, rinse the machine and run in more luke-warm water, to this again add two cupfuls of soap jelly or soap flakes and wash the woollens and colored clothes and stockings. Water for this kind of clothing should never be more than luke-warm.

Much Is Accomplished in Little Time. While the woollens are washing wring the white wash from the bluing into a basket and hang out to dry. Working on this schedule a washing including personal clothing, table linen and bed linen for a family of five people can be done in less than two hours.

The following is an excellent recipe for soap jelly. Shave two bars of good laundry soap into one gallon of boiling water and let it stand for several minutes. It is then ready for immediate use, or can be cooled and stored in glass jars for future use. In case the water is hard soften it by dissolving two or three teaspoonfuls of borax, or sometimes just plain washing soda, in both the soaking and washing waters before putting in the soap or clothing.

Treat the Washer With Due Consideration.

To get the most use out of anything it is necessary to give it the attention required to keep it in a healthy condition. Machinery, electrical or any other kind, needs care to keep it running; that is why it has been so often likened to the human body.

The electrical clothes washer is a piece of mechanism and it must be given the right care to work with complete satisfaction. That does not mean that caring for it requires much time and trouble, but it does mean that certain things must be observed, such as keeping it as clean inside as one kept the wash-tubs, rub-board and the old-fashioned clothes boiler. Habit being the strongest of all human tendencies, the wise housekeeper will form the habit of washing out the tank of her washer every time she is through using it. The process is very simple; after you have drained off the last water used for washing, rinsing, or bluing the laundry, run in clear hot water which may or may not be soapy, according to what kind of work the washer did last. Every woman knows that rinsing or bluing water always leaves a greasy ring around a tub, and the same principle applies to the washer. When the hot water has been run in, let the washer run for several minutes, then drain off the water and dry the inside of the washer.

Use Oil Sparingly and According to the Manufacturer's Instructions. The wringer rolls must also be cleaned each time the machine is used. This is done by using a clean cloth dipped in warm soapy water, but if the rolls are stained a little kerosene will clean them, but be sure to wash it off with soap and water after the stains are removed. And remember to loosen the tension of the wringer rolls whenever you are through using it as prolonged pressure will weaken the rubber.

No machinery will run without at least an occasional oiling. Bearings permitted to run dry quickly deteriorate and render the washer almost useless. Women frequently ask how

DRYING LAUNDRY INDOORS.

The Electric Fan Offers Its Aid on Rainy Days.

Drying the weekly laundry indoors is not exactly what the average housewife enjoys, because the old notion persists that in order to have clean, sweet smelling wash it must dry outdoors. But unfortunately there are days, particularly in the early spring, that make it necessary for us to choose the alternative of either drying the laundry indoors or leaving it to soak in water—to do without clean clothes altogether.

The solution is easy for the woman who lives in a house with an attic, for she can always hang wash up there and with the added convenience of electricity it is now possible to shorten the drying process. Instead of letting the clothes hang for hours, wet and absorbing various odors, take the electric fan to the attic and attach it to the lamp socket, or better still, have a convenience outlet installed for this very purpose. The breeze from the fan playing on the clothes will dry them in half the time and they will be as white and sweet smelling as though they had been dried out-of-doors.

Having questioned several ladies on the subject, we learned that they too had been experimenting along this line. One dries all her laundry by hanging it in a far corner of the cellar, away from the furnace and coal. She places an electric fan on a box level with the wash, attaches it to the lamp socket and the trick is done.

Another surprised us by nonchalantly declaring that she did not resort to either of these expedients, but on rainy days hung her laundry in the kitchen and by turning the fan on it dried it so quickly that it did not inconvenience her. She makes a point of hanging the wash during the hours between meals.

These three ways of indoor laundry drying may suggest others to resourceful women. The electric fan is ranked among the most important of household appliances. All summer it cools the house and dries fruits; in the fall it helps dry varnished floors, and painted walls. In the winter it ventilates the kitchen and other rooms, and often by placing it in a position in front of the steam radiator stimulates the heat on cold days; and again, placed in the ashpit of the furnace it aids in getting more heat out of the coal—what is there in any home more useful?

A SPRING LUNCHEON MENU WITH A SURPASSING DESSERT

Efficient Electrical Servants Simplify Entertaining.

The season after Easter and preceding the summer exodus is always one of unusual social gaiety. One of the most satisfactory ways of entertaining a few friends at this time is a luncheon. For such an occasion do not invite more than six or eight guests, as the charm of such a luncheon depends on not making it too formal or too large.

If you will make use of the electrical equipment of your kitchen and do all the preparation possible the previous day, when the hour set for the luncheon arrives you will find that you are untired and ready to devote yourself to entertaining your guests and really enjoying the party yourself.

Spring flowers should be used for table decorations. The menu suggested below will tempt the appetite and not put too heavy a strain upon your purse. It may, of course, be modified as you choose.

Cream of Asparagus Soup.

Cut the tips from a bunch of asparagus and cook them in a kettle filled with sufficient water to cover them. Add a pinch of salt and one of baking soda to the water. When, after the tips have been added the water comes to a boil, lower the heat and cook for twenty minutes. Remove the tips, place the stalks of the bunch in the boiling water, and, if necessary, add sufficient boiling water to cover. Simmer until the asparagus stalks are soft enough to be rubbed through a ricer.

This done (and it may be prepared the day before your luncheon) cook together two tablespoonfuls of butter and two of flour. When this bubbles add a quart of milk and stir until smooth and properly thickened. Add the asparagus pulp, a heaping teaspoonful of salt, a saltspoonful of white pepper, boil up once more and then put in the asparagus tips. It is then ready to serve.

Chicken and Mushroom Patties.
Make a pastry by chopping three-quarters of a cupful of butter into two cupfuls of flour. If you have an electric kitchen utility until this will take but about two minutes. When the bits of butter are about the size of peas add a half cupful of lard water and still using the utility unit work into a paste. When done turn onto a well-floured board and roll quickly into a sheet about a half inch thick. Dredge this lightly with flour, fold in three, roll out and dredge again. Repeat this three times in all and then put the paste on ice for at least two hours to become thoroughly chilled.

When you take the paste from the refrigerator roll out to a sheet an inch thick, cut with a very sharp biscuit-cutter and press a smaller cutter almost through the center. Place each patty upon a tin and before putting in the oven brush the top only with a mixture made of a tablespoonful of cold water and the yolk of an egg. Do not brush this on the sides of the patties for if you do they will not rise when being baked.

While you are cutting out your patties get the oven of your range ready to bake them. This should be pre-heated to 450 degrees. When you place the patties in the oven lower the heat and bake until they are a delicate brown. Making these patty shells should be done the day before your party. When they are cold remove the center with a sharp knife.

For the patty filling have ready sufficient cold roast or boiled chicken cut into small cubes and a dozen fresh mushrooms, peeled and sliced. Make a sauce with a tablespoonful of butter, one of flour and a cupful of chicken stock and cream in equal parts. Cook together until thick and smooth. Then the chicken and mushrooms and lowering the heat let patty fillings simmer for fifteen minutes. In the meantime set your patty shells in the oven of the range.

long enough to heat them through. Fill each patty shell with chicken and mushroom mixture and garnish with parsley and they are ready to serve.

Dutchess Potatoes.
To two cupfuls of mashed potatoes add a beaten egg, a tablespoonful of butter and enough milk to make the mixture as soft as it can be handled. Season to taste with salt and white pepper, and spread on a board in a sheet about an inch and a half thick. Cut into shapes with a round or a square cutter, lay these in a biscuit-tin, strew grated cheese lightly over them and place in the oven long enough to become a golden brown.

Cheese Sticks.
Roll the pastry left from your patties into a thin sheet and cut into strips three or four inches long and an inch wide. Strew with grated cheese thickly upon half of these strips, lay the other halves on top and press down gently so they will stick together. Do not pinch the edges or the pastry will not rise. Lay the sticks in the oven which has been pre-heated, and when they begin to brown, brush with beaten white of egg and sift grated cheese over them.

Pulled Bread.
Remove the crust from a freshly baked loaf of bread and pull the bread apart in long strips, tearing the loaf in half first, then into quarters and finally into eighths. Place the bread in a slow oven and leave it until well dried and lightly browned. Don't let it scorch, but take it out when it is crisp as well as colored.

Strawberry Mousse.
Have three cupfuls of double cream very cold and whip it light and stiff. When this is done beat into it half a cupful of powdered egg and sift grated cheese over them.

May Meeting "Y" Auxiliary

The May meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Auxiliary was held at the Y. M. C. A. building on Friday afternoon, being largely attended. Mrs. Freudenfeld had charge of the devotional exercises, choosing the topic, "Happiness." Miss Alice Kierstedt offered prayer. There was considerable business transacted, among other things the following chairmen of standing committees being appointed:

Mrs. J. Allan Wood, membership; Mrs. M. S. Safford, program; Mrs. E. O. Allen, sociability; Mrs. Frank Schwab, lunch room; Mrs. Cora Drake, lunch room fund; Mrs. Henry Weeks, calling; Mrs. A. D. Rose, flowers and supplies; Mrs. Justin Fields, devotions; Miss Rhea Burgett, senior boys' work; Mrs. G. Henry Neslage, junior boys' work; Miss Frances Osterhout, press work.

During the business session it was voted to purchase an addressograph for the Boys' Department and to replenish the supply of dishes for the lunch room work.

Mrs. Safford had charge of the program and introduced Mr. Jackson of the American Hotel Company of Washington, D. C., who gave these women an interesting and informing talk on the project of the hotel to be built in Kingston in the near future.

The women present also had the pleasure of listening to two most enjoyable vocal solos sung by Miss Vivian Klotz: "A Song Without Words," by Gustav Holzel, and "April Showers," by Fink.

At the close of the program refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

Society Notes

Turk-Fiore.

Frank Turk of 399 Second avenue and Mrs. Catherine Fiore of No. 1 Beach street were united in marriage on May 4 by the Rev. J. B. Scully, of St. Mary's Church.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

There will be a six months' mind Mass for the late Francis D. Schatzel, Sunday morning, at 9 o'clock in St. Peter's Church.

Irene A., wife of Dr. David Mosher, died at Marlborough, Thursday, May 8. Funeral services will be held at the late residence, Monday, May 12, at 2 p. m. Interment in Cedarhill Cemetery.

Cora Dupuy, wife of Russel Miller of Metacalms, died Thursday evening at the Kingston City Hospital in the 40th year of her age. Funeral Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, standard time, from the late residence. Interment in Whitfield Cemetery.

Dr. C. H. DuBois died in New York, May 2, after a short illness. He is survived by his wife and one son, three sisters, Mrs. John U. Gillette of Port Ewen, Mrs. R. E. Terpenning of New Rochelle, Miss Sarah DuBois of New Paltz, and two brothers, Herman E. DuBois of New Paltz and Lawrence DuBois of Detroit, Michigan.

Dr. Magnus Gross, 56 years old, was suddenly stricken with heart trouble Friday evening about 9 o'clock while attending a local theater. He was seized with a fainting spell while attending the performance and was rushed to the office of Dr. Mark O'Meara on Maiden Lane. Before medical attention could be given and while he was being carried into the doctor's office he expired. Dr. Gross, chiropractor, with offices in the Advance building on Wall street, was educated in Saxony, Germany and came to Kingston about four years ago from New York city. He continued to practice his profession in Kingston where he had a large practice. He resided at 102 Albany avenue. Beside his wife, Celia, he is survived by four children who reside in Jersey city. The children were notified of his death. Since coming to Kingston Dr. Gross has made many friends who will be shocked to learn of his sudden death. Some years ago Dr. Gross was actively identified with the secret service.

Used Magical Rings

Superstition, which took such a hold on the medieval mind, found its expression in rings. Magical rings with the necromantic inscription, "ANADYAPTUS," made the wearer immune to pestilence and epilepsy. Rings with a toadstone—Shakespeare's "precious jewel" in the toad's head—protected newborn babes and their mothers against witchcraft.

WITH THE GIRLS

Woman is the one problem that society can never solve.

It takes a woman to do things properly without knowing how.

Lots of women complain because they have nothing to complain of.

A girl's idea of a rose without a thorn is a handsome young man who is rich and eligible.

No woman admires discretion in a man, any more than a cat admires speed in a mouse.

A woman takes religion almost as seriously as a man does politics—but she doesn't swear about it.

No girl ever loved a man so much that she didn't try to find out how much the engagement ring cost.

A marshmallow can be used as a powder puff in an emergency, but it kinda spoils it as confectionery.

No, Maude dear; there is no reason why a woman who is one-sided shouldn't be absolutely square.

It hurts some women like the mischief to acknowledge that they can remember as far back as the Spanish-American war.

Love may be blind, yet a girl can see more in the man of her choice than a physician can with the aid of an X-ray.

The winter girl cuts a figure on the ice, but the summer girl must have a figure of her own to cut any ice on the beach.

QUAINT SUPERSTITIONS

The dog is responsible for many quaint superstitions.

Should a strange dog follow you wagging its tail, you will receive a letter.

The Indians held dogs responsible for the illnesses of children, a small dog being offered up as an appeasing sacrifice.

If a dog passes between a couple it is a menace to their friendship, while to give a dog away is supposed to bring bad luck.

If a dog rubs its nose on the door there will be windy weather. If it barks in its sleep it is a sign of impending evil.

In ancient Persia a dog was employed to drive away the demons who were supposed to wait for the soul of a dead man.

Among southern negroes the dog is hated. It is supposed to have been the Garden of Eden watchdog who let the devil in, and so was condemned by God to starve and hunt ever after.

APROPOS OF NOTHING

Our friends see our faults and minimize them.

Insinuation of a school of journalism should be the question mark.

Being your own boss means a lot of deference to the whole world.

In concealing one's age, one has to be careful in one's reminiscences.

Never argue that something can't be done. Human intellect is too nearly infinite.

When a man says, "He talked to me like a Dutch uncle," he means that he was scolded and he liked it.

There are thousands of poets; and nearly every one utters a few lines which the greatest would have liked to own.

A man may smile and smile, and be a villain still; and likewise he may laugh and laugh, but there is a delectable quality in his mirth.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

Self-satisfied people have nothing more to live for.

As weeping experts women can put it all over the men.

A good orator drives home everything but his audience.

Unless a man's sense of humor is on a vacation he never takes a woman seriously.

There is fun in making love to a girl until she begins to think that you are in earnest.

When a man combines business with pleasure, business usually gets the short end of it.

LITTLE SERMONS

Great deeds are often done by people who never thought they'd have to.

If one does his work well it doesn't leave him much time to "invite his soul."

Saving 50 cents in dimes and nickels usually requires $5 worth of thoughtfulness.

Shirts Constitute Real Peril to Their Wearers

"Safety first" may mean knickerbockers for women. On the other hand, it may mean absolutely safe shirts. Burns kill more women than men. Shirts are the reason. Don't you believe it? Then listen. Why is it that during the last three years of life more boys die of burns than girls, while with the fourth year the scale turns sharply?

Isn't it because the boys about the time they are three or four drop the garb of femininity and blossom out into their first knee pants? Figures for the United States registration area covering a period of twenty-one years, show that in the fourth year of life the relatively high death rate from burns among girls begins. After that the fatal skirts and frilly waists which girls and women affect play their incendiary role, while the sober, sensible habiliments of masculinity protect their brothers from peril.

Burns, not fires in the sense of conflagrations or house and factory burnings, but just plain burns and scalds, are the only kind of accidents which number the majority of their victims among the weaker sex. Three out of every five deaths from burns are deaths of women and girls. If this happened for a single year it might be considered a mere matter of chance, but the mortality figures show that the ratio has continued constant over a long period.—New York Sun.

Hawaiian Gods Panish Desecrators of Temple

The gods of ancient Hawaii again wreaked their vengeance upon the whites who made merry upon the site of a former heiau, or oldtime temple of worship, according to Hawaiian superstition, when the famous clubhouse of the Order of Elks on the beach at Waikiki was damaged by fire to the extent of $65,000.

The flames, caused by defective wiring, were the last of a series of untoward events, including murder, that occurred at the site of the heiau, which nestles at the foot of Diamond Head, says a Honolulu correspondent of the New York World. According to Hawaiian medicine men only evil will come to those who desecrate the site of an ancient heiau.

The clubhouse was built many years ago by the late James B. Castle, a descendant of the missionaries who came from New England to the island in 1820, as a residence for his family. During the occupancy of the Castle family two Japanese were murdered in the grounds and attention was called at that time to the tradition of the heiau.

Spacious Days

"You should see my lodging! John and I have a bridal suite, the grandest you ever saw, all done in lavender silk, with great bunches of lilacs and lilies of the valley. The bed in my room is as large as Dolly's parlor at Bramfield. Louis Quatorze, so Cynthia tells me. They were spacious days—four people could easily sleep in it without discomforting each other."

"They often did," said Mrs. Cooke, in an interested voice. "This notion that even two are something of a crowd is quite a modern idea. I was reading the life of Mme. de Montespan the other day and it struck me forcibly what much more sociable habits they had."—"From 'The Ladies of London,'" by Margaret Kennedy.

Suited the President

President Coolidge's economy in words continues to furnish good copy. Here is the latest:

At a recent political pow-wow a newspaper editor next to Mr. Coolidge. After carrying on a one-sided conversation for a while he began to grow restless under the President's monosyllables. "Mr. President," he said, "I think it is time I was giving some one else the opportunity to talk with you; I'd better move on."

Without turning his head the President in an undertone commanded: "Stay where you are!" Having got used to his conversational partner he had no intention of breaking in so other.—Portland Oregonian.

Lee Statue Gigantic

The height of the Goddess of Liberty is 111 feet; 153.41 feet to the extremity of the torch. The figure of General Lee on Stone mountain is to be 140 feet from the top of his hat to the bottom of the horse's hoofs. It is said that a man standing on the general's shoulder would need a step ladder to reach his ear. The sculptor says: "The distance from the horse's knees to the top of General Lee's hat is 120 feet. The depth of the relief on the extreme point will be about 20 feet, while the average depth of stone to be removed over the whole surface—300-odd feet in length, by about 200 in height—will be about 4 feet."

Missing the Sights

Senator Underwood said in a discussion of spiritualism at a dinner party: "There is one sure thing about the spirits raised by Sir Oliver Lodge and Sir Arthur Conan Doyle—they talk in a light way about heaven. 'The details that these spirits give us remind me of the little girl who, running in a drawer, exclaimed: 'There! Grandma's gone to Heaven without her spectacles!'"—Los Angeles Times.

POULTRY

BREEDING CHICKENS FOR EGG PRODUCTION

"Breeding chickens for high egg production is in its infancy," said Prof. L. H. Schwartz of Purdue university recently. "There never was such a big demand as there is now, for males particularly, of known breeding. Large returns are in store for the farmer raising reliable standard bred birds. Selection is the keynote for success in any breeding enterprise."

One essential for successful breeding is to have at least two pens, one for the breeders and the other for the layers. Both males and females should be carefully selected and only the best used for breeding. The practice of using pullets in the breeding pen was condemned, while breeding from birds molting late in September, October and November is recommended.

Late molting birds have proved to be the best birds for breeding high egg production. A bird, in order to be a high producer or a breeder for high production should be full of energy, have plenty of capacity, have a deep body and long and wide back. Males and females should be kept as long as they breed and produce well. The desirable way of introducing new blood is by buying eggs or pullets. The inheritance of high egg production is transmitted through the male, and only high producing hens should be used.

When birds are not too closely related and are carefully selected, well housed and given a well-balanced feed, the improvement of our flocks for egg production will take place.

Eggs for Hatching Must Be Gathered Carefully

At the time an egg is laid, the germ is smaller than the eye can see and is located within a ring visible on the surface of the yolk. It is very delicate and improper handling of the egg before it is set may kill this germ.

Eggs to be set should be gathered several times daily to prevent chilling or "stalling" by a broody hen. The nests should be kept clean, a wire mesh bottom nest which lets the dirt out being best. The eggs should not be washed, as this opens the pores and allows the egg to evaporate. Scrape the dirt off and do not set those which are very dirty.

Keep them at a temperature of from 50 to 60. At 68 they will start to hatch, and if not put under a hen at once will probably die. Do not put them in dusty material or where dust can gather on them, as this will close up the pores and smother the chick later. A basement is much better than a dry room. Do not hold the eggs over seven days before setting—five days is safer.—O. C. Krum, Poultry Specialist, Colorado Agricultural College.

Whitewash Favored for Cleaning Chicken Coop

Because mites breed so rapidly, the hen house becomes uninhabitable by summer if preventive measures are not taken in the spring. Mites can live for five months without blood, so that closing the poultry house during the summer will not completely starve them out. This explains why they can live through the winter and be ready to breed the next spring. A poultry house can be kept absolutely free from mites. Clean out all the old nests. Clean up all litter on the floor and burn it. Paint the roosts and dropping boards with undiluted commercial liquid k-killer, or with crude petroleum. Apply to the entire length of the roosts, top side and under; also where the roosts join the wall. Repeat in June, and again in August. Spray the entire interior of the coop with disinfectant whenever you clean it. Whitewash poultry and cleanliness largely prevent poultry disease and other.—Portland Oregonian.

Poultry Hints

Do not breed from mongrels. Keep only one breed.

If the floor is damp the litter should be covered with four to six inches of litter at all times.

The litter on the floor should be kept clean. It should be changed at least every three months. Dirty litter is very unsanitary as well as unsightly.

The nesting material should be changed at least once every two months and the nests well sprayed with disinfectant. Mites and disease germs find good resting place in dirty nests.

Broodiness is inherited and can be reduced by not breeding from the hens which are broody more than once in a year.

More and more eggs are being bought on a quality basis. Do not set eggs which are off in shape, color, or texture of shell.

Turkeys need an abundance of fresh, pure water. If they can't get it from the brook, spring or horse trough, keep a bucket full of fresh water in a shady place.

DRESS TIPS FOR THE WARM DAYS IN TOWN

(By Eleanor Gunn.)
When summer comes it is pleasant to dream and plan of summer clothes of fairlike texture and flower coloring. Summer unfortunately does not always spell vacation. There are many doomed to spend most of the week at least in town, and everyone knows how such clothes look there. The business girl or the girl who, for any reason, spends her days in town, will find an unlined navy alpaca cut along the lines indicated, a reliable choice. A fresh collar and a variety of ties make for change, and collars and ties are both so varied that one may invest a small fortune in an assortment.

Hot weather clothes should be simple in cut, and it is a comfort to know that fashion not only permits, but highly approves of simplicity. Alpaca should always be made on simple lines, as well as satins, principally the new fulgurant satin, which comes in the class of artificial silks, or rayon as it is now termed.

A satin frock of this favored weave was made with a V neckline, a collar of rich eide au lait. Point Venise being added. The long, tight sleeves ended in a fitted cuff of the same lace, put on so that the pattern of the lace was applied to the sleeve, instead of being a well defined line on one-side satin and on the other lace. Three wide bands of satin were applied to the skirt, beginning at the low waistline, just failing to meet in a line down the left side.

It is noticeable from almost all points of vantage that black and white is selected in preference to color by some of the best dressed women. Black tailored suits are more frequently worn with white blouses than with color, while black and white scarfs and hats have attained wide approval. When in doubt choose black and white is a pretty safe rule in the game of fashion.

Navy has more prestige than it has enjoyed for years and is almost as smart as black, but abroad as well as here, one is constantly confronted with flashes of red. It is stressed even more overseas, black, white and red, navy red and white, white and red, black and red and for sports wear, the very Spanish combination of yellow and red are repeated again and again. It is even expected that red will not only outlive the summer, but will be as smart as ever in the fall. An all red hat is a ray touch, for which the all white or all gray costume is much the better. Gray reports are to the effect that gray is succeeding beige in popularity.

A Helping Hand

When you rise in the morning form a resolution to make the day a happy one to a fellow creature. It is easily done; a left-off garment to the man who needs it, a kind word to the sorrowful, an encouraging expression to the striving—trifles in themselves light as air—will do it at least for the 24 hours.

Slept Through Tornado
Tornadoes play many freak antics. In following story, told by Gayle Howell in Nature, is just a sample of them:

Mr. Lenz, a young farmer's wife, placed her sleeping baby upon a bed and had gone out, among the scattering pellets of hail, to look after her baby chicks. Her husband was in a distant pasture watering the cat. Mrs. Lenz noticed the peculiar and tangling like a thick rope from a sky, heard the roaring, guessed a awful import and rushed to the door and in to the baby. She then lay herself upon the bed clasping a child. The house, which happened to be directly in the path of the tornado, was completely demolished. Two hours later the frantic husband and his wife beneath a pile of debris in his uprooted orchard a hundred yards from where the house had stood. The woman was unconscious, aside from a few bruises, unhurt. The baby was fast asleep, held tight to the mother's arms.

Card of Thanks.
I wish to thank all my neighbors and friends for their sympathy and acts of kindness in my recent bereavement in the sudden death of my husband.
MRS. RUTH RELYEA.

CHIEF FIGURES IN NEWS SPOTLIGHT.

Below: PRESIDENT WOJCIECHOWSKI & GEORGE D. SHAW
Below: ANGELO MILTON ELLISON & SAMUEL GOMPERZ

The Polish Cabinet, meeting in Warsaw, is considering measures to limit the freedom of speech of President Wojciechowski, who recently made speeches in Posen that were interpreted as recommending an imperialistic policy. When Samuel Gomperz, veteran president of the American Federation of Labor, attempted to address the convention of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union in Boston, he was broken up by the meeting in disorder. George Bernard Shaw, addressing a meeting of labor men, said he was an original Communist, who wished only a nice flat in the fashionable West End of London, a nice country estate, $10,000 pocket money and a couple of motor cars and he would be contented. Angelo Milton Ellison, Greek professor of the late Edward F. Seales, aged Methuen, Mass., millionaire reclusive, has sued in New York City courts for the $20,000,000 left by Seales to his secretary, Arthur T. Walker. Ellison declares he was promised by Seales that he would receive the estate, but that he got only $10,000. Sensational developments are promised.

Respect the Truth

Respect the truth. Be true. There is no conscience, there is no noble life, there is no equality for sacrifice where there is not a religious, a right, and a rigorous respect for truth. Strive, then, to fulfill this difficult duty. Untruth corrupts whoever makes use of it before it overcomes him against whom it is used.

First Trip to Australia

The first authenticated voyage to Australia was made by the Dutch in 1606. It is believed, however, that the country was visited by the French prior to this date, though there are no actual records. The first important explorations were made by Captain Cook, who visited the country in 1770.

Retaining Youth

As I approve of a youth that has something of the old man in him, so I am no less pleased with an old man that has something of the youth. He that follows this rule may be old in body, but can never be so in mind.—Cicero.

Mean

"Jack told me I reminded him of a girl on a magazine cover." "I guess that's because he only sees you once a month."—New York Medley.

A Reminder

Let him who neglects to raise the fallen, fear lest, when he falls, no one will stretch out his hand to lift him up.—Saunders.

County W.C.T.U. 45th Institute

Held at Clintondale—Unity and Cooperation Still Vital Because of Opposition in High Places to Prohibition, Say Speakers.

The Ulster County Woman's Christian Temperance Union 45th Institute was held at Clintondale in Friend Church, May 7, 1924. Following is the official report:

The morning session opened by a song service, led by Mrs. George H. Brown of Highland. Mrs. L. M. Weed of Kingston, County Evangelistic Superintendent, led the devotional meeting. She spoke of the early days of the organization when whole days were given up to prayer for the work. With such a foundation we could not fail.

Mrs. A. G. Shepard, president of Clintondale W. C. T. U., gave the welcome. She stressed the thought of cheer and the relation of encouragement to success in our work. She very cordially welcomed the County Union to Clintondale. Albert G. Shepard, the pastor of the church, welcomed us in behalf of the churches and community and spoke of the unity and cooperation needed, and encouraged us to keep on praying and voting, working harder than ever because of the opposition in "high" places.

Mrs. S. C. Pratt, president of Highland Union, responded with an earnest exhortation to us and thanks for the cordial welcome.

Mrs. J. S. Cox our new Y. P. R. secretary was then introduced and spoke a few words of her interest in the work and intention to keep at it.

The Jubilee Membership Campaign discussion was led by our County Corresponding Secretary Mrs. J. D. Rose of Highland.

We reached our goal and got our $1,000,000 and now the harder task is before us of winning 1,000,000 in the nation. Are we each doing our share asking for new members? Each local secretary should set on foot some plan to this end. Eleven unions responded and each was trying to gather in new recruits. One plan being "each one win one."

Two guests were introduced, the new pastor of the Marlborough M. E. Church, the Rev. Mr. Montrose, and Mrs. Gordon Swift, President of Dutchess County W. C. T. U.

The county efficiency plan discussion was led by Mrs. Palen, our County President. The standard is so high that it will need some very earnest work to reach the 100 points. The union that succeeds will have the railroad fare of a delegate paid to State Convention in October at Oneonta. Miss Roena Shaner of Missouri, our speaker, was introduced and spoke a few words.

Mrs. Edward Young, County Vice President, gave a talk on the finances in place of Mrs. Heidrick, County Treasurer, who was unable to be present. She used a black board and each union was given credit for all money paid in for the different branches of work in which we are engaged. This was for six months only but gave a good showing. Miss Kiersted of Kingston offered noon-tide paper.

Mrs. Swift of Dutchess County then gave a Bible reading on the 91st Psalm which was full of inspiration.

The morning session adjourned and the delegates were served with coffee having brought box lunches. Executive session was held and some plans for work discussed. The afternoon session was opened by a devotional meeting led by Mrs. Conant, President of Marlborough W. C. T. U.

A duet was sung by Mrs. Heald and Mrs. Sutton of Clintondale which was much appreciated.

Some pages of the History of Ulster county were given by Martha H. Bell, former president of the county. The first local union organized in Ulster county was at Kingston, September 1877. The county W. C. T. U. was organized in 1880.

There have been six presidents of the county during the nearly 45 years. Mrs. A. G. Nichols of Kingston, four years; Mrs. F. C. Scoville of Saugerties, one year; Mrs. W. H. Vrooman of High Falls, two years; Mrs. Emilie Underhill Burgess of Highland, 17 years; Martha H. Bell, Milton, 17 years; Mrs. J. Albert Palen, Wallkill, elected 1922.

Many very faithful women have served the local and county union during all these years and loving tribute was paid to many of them. About 18 departments of work have been taken up and the superintendents of these have been very faithful. Several women are paying $1 dues and adopted the budget plan for finances. The present number of unions is 16 and three Young People Branches.

Short sketches of the local unions were given by local presidents which were very interesting.

Mrs. E. Y. Devo and Mrs. G. H. Burns sang a duet which was enjoyed by all.

Miss Shaner, institute leader, gave a talk on citizenship which was full of enthusiasm and exhortation to fulfill our duty as voters.

The Rev. Howard Kanter, pastor of the R. D. Church of Wallkill, gave a stirring address on the necessity of a law enforcement act while law is in the limelight. Our Constitution demands an enforcement act as all the old evils are coming back. We can not be "half wet" and "half dry." New York state is holding back the progress of the moral advance of the nation.

The Rev. Mr. Brown, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene of Clintondale, sang the Holy City with fine effect.

The "Loyal Temperance Legion" secretaries arranged a program with the children consisting of recitations and songs, which all enjoyed.

At the close three babies were brought to the platform by their mothers and Miss Shaner tied the white ribbon on their wrists with appropriate words and prayer, followed by all singing two verses of "Precious Jewels." The names of the little folks were William Meindard, J. Wells Weaver, Jr., and Stewart Taber Mosher. In the evening the little son of Samuel Lake was brought by his mother and the white ribbon tied on him.

An essay was read, written by a student in the fifth and sixth grades of the school at Wallkill, which showed much thought and careful preparation.

Mrs. J. D. Rose gave a talk on the results of prohibition. Said she wished our Congressman Wadsworth at Washington, our Governor Smith at Albany, President Butler of Columbia College could hear how much had been done for the children, for the mothers, for the homes and all concerned by the passing of the 18th Amendment. We shall not stand back and let the wet forces preempt the front pages of our newspapers. Prohibition is here to stay. Too often the lack of respect for the 18th Amendment is due to disregard of it in the home. The prohibition law is 68 3-10 per cent enforced while the law against murder is 47 per cent enforced. Don't be afraid to differ with politicians. Really better conditions exist on every side.

The very bountiful supper served by the Clintondale Union was much enjoyed.

A birthday cake with fifty candles was brought in and each candle lighted by Mrs. Shepard when Mrs. Palen read some notable event in the history of New York State W. C. T. U.

The evening session was opened by a song service led by Mrs. Brown. The Scripture was read and prayer offered by Mr. Shepard, pastor of the church.

Mrs. J. W. S. Cox read a paper on Young People's Branch and she said, among other good things, that youth holds the key. Let us help them to keep "the door locked" by having an active Y. P. B. in every community. A male quartet then sang "Blue Galilee" and were willing to respond to an encore by another selection.

The minutes of the afternoon session and executive committee were read and adopted. Also the report

"Lucretia Lombard"

A Drama of Flaming Passion

Adapted from the novel by KATHLEEN NORRIS.

Featuring IRENE RICH and MONTE BLUE

Of all sad words of tongue or pen, the saddest are these, "It might have been."

Your heart will stand still when Lucretia learns that, through a misunderstanding, her lover has married another.

of resolution committee.

Miss Roena Shaner was then introduced and gave an address which will not be easily forgotten. She said in part: "With due respect for all other organizations, it would have been well nigh impossible to have gotten the 18th amendment without the W. C. T. U. Ninety per cent of the liquor traffic would return with light wine and beer. The selling place would be in a short time the same old saloon. We must pray, pray, pray. Work, inform ourselves about the truth. Take the Union Signal. Many have bank accounts who never had enough to pay their debts before. In other days some children were glad their father was dead as they did not have to run and hide when they heard him coming." We need good citizens as well as good officials. Spell dry, D R Y, and let nothing but your own funeral keep you from the polls on election day. Wear the white ribbon. Vote for the dry man every time. The wet vote wet regardless of party affiliation." Miss Shaner surely captured her audience and her ready wit caused many a laugh. She closed her address with an appeal to all who were not members of the W. C. T. U. to sign the roll and go to work.

The offering was taken. Mrs. William Lair of Milton sang a solo. Closing words were said and the forty-fifth annual institute of Ulster county passed into history.

Resolution.

Whereas, the eighteenth amendment is incorporated in the basic law of America and the Volstead act was enacted in order to make it operative, and the violation of one law weakens all law; and

Whereas, allegiance to the constitution includes obedience to all laws so long as they remain and officers must swear to execute such laws; therefore be it

Resolved, that we, in the spirit of patriotism, affirm our determination to obey the letter and spirit of the eighteenth amendment; that we will give moral support to officials charged with the responsibility of its enforcement; that we will work for dry plank in party platforms in all political parties, and will support only such candidates as publicly declare themselves in favor of law enforcement.

Thanks

Resolved, that we thank the Clintondale Union for their kindly welcome manifested in their care for our entertainment; to the trustees of the church for their care for the church for his helpfulness during our sessions; the children and their leader for their enthusiasm; the male quartet and soloists for the songs rendered and to all who have helped to make our meeting a success.

All Stars Play Here on Sunday

The Kennedy All Stars of Yonkers will clash with the Kingston Colonials at the Fair Grounds Sunday afternoon. The Stars have been playing good ball this season and the locals will have to travel fast to defeat them. Jack Moran, the port slider from Peekskill, will be here Sunday ready to go in the box for the Colonials if needed. Just who Judge Schirick will call on to pitch is not known. It is likely that either Moran or Culloton will toss them over.

The Tannersville team will be here for a double header on the Fourth of July, and it is likely that a series of games will be arranged with the Mountaineers.

Middletown Forfeits Game

Middletown High School forfeited its baseball game which was to be played today at the Fair Grounds, to the local high school. The game was forfeited because Middletown had only seven men available. The locals get a game without playing. They have now lost one and won one. It is necessary that they win every Duso League game from now on to make a good showing and to come out near the top. If they down every game still to be played and if Poughkeepsie loses one, a tie will result. That is the only hope for the locals to win the Duso League championship.

GIANTS' ROOKIE IS AMONG TOPNOTCHERS

Pitcher Dean Won 21 Games for Louisville Last Year.

Wayland Dean, who was sold to the Giants, is a Huntington, W. Va., boy. He is an admirably-built chap with a right-arm delivery and can stand a great deal of work. He uses overhead, side-arm and underhand services in pitching, and this variety of deliveries adds to his effectiveness.

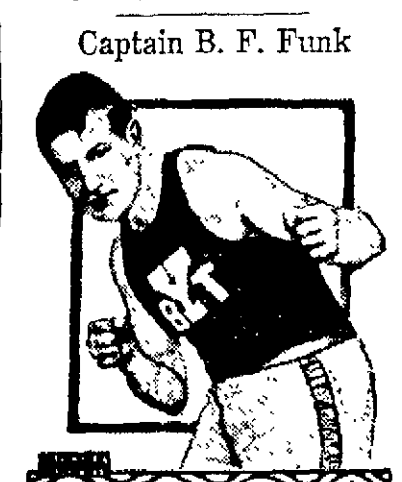

Often pitchers try all three of these services, but generally only one of them is natural. Dean throws with as much ease and effect one way as another.

Woodson Moss, a hotel manager at Winchester, Ky., and a lifelong friend of Captain Neal, recommended Dean to the captain in 1921 and, after seeing Dean pitch, the captain signed him to a 1922 contract. Mr. Moss also recommended Combs to Louisville. Dean was a pitcher on an independent team at Winchester in 1921.

He was taken to the Mobile training camp of the Colonels in 1922 and shortly after the season opened was sent to Jack Martin's Daytona club of the Florida State league. Dean did not have such a whole of a year down there, winning eight games and losing six, but even in his defeats he was impressive and Joe McCarthy, Louisville manager, after watching the youngster work in three American association games after he had rejoined the Colonels near the close of the 1922 season, made the prediction that Dean would be the best moundman on the Louisville staff in 1923.

This prophecy came true, for Dean won 21 games and lost 8 and ranked next to Tom Sheehan as the most effective pitcher in the league. Dean worked in 36 games for a winning average of .724. He pitched 259 innings and pitched to 966 batters who gained 251 hits and 118 runs, 94 of the runs being earned. Dean gave 113 bases on balls and struck out 107 men. His earned run average was 3.27. Dean is twenty-one years old.

BASEBALL NOTES

Dennis Gearin of the New York Giants is the smallest pitcher in the major league.

With the exception of the second week in the season, the Yankees led the American league all last year.

Joseph Heckle, star pitcher of the Syracuse university team last year, has been signed by the Detroit Tigers.

Manager McGraw will not let his athletes play golf, probably on the theory that golfers so seldom get home.

Pat Malone, pitcher, last year with Toledo, has been obtained by Minneapolis of the American association, from the New York Giants.

John McGraw admits that pitching is his problem. He says there will be nothing to it but the Giants if his team gets fair pitching.

Jack Hendricks, forty-eight years of age, the new manager of the Cincinnati Nationals, has been managing ball clubs for the past 19 years.

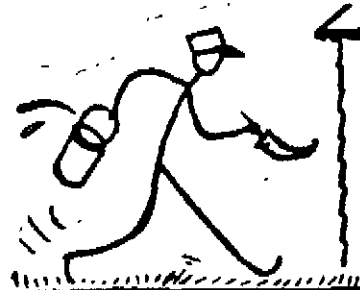

Moie Berg of the 1923 Princeton nine has joined the Brooklyn Robins. He was with the team following his graduation from the university last season.

Old Hank Gowdy is working a regular turn behind the bat for the Giants and shows no signs of slipping. The sergeant is quite agile and still can throw.

Frank ("Pig") Bodie, former White Sox and Yankee outfielder, has been purchased by the Des Moines Western league club from the Vernon Pacific Coast league management.

Quintin Did Not Have Much

His Knockout by Johnson Proves Little Except That Neither Can Be Built up and That Boxing is on Level.

(By Davis J. Walsh.)

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, May 10.—Quintin Romero-Rojas, that strange collection of sounds from South America, may return to Chile at his earliest convenience with disarranging the plans of our Mr. Rickard by the slightest. Quintin's debut before an American public last night at Madison Square Garden was also his farewell. He was knocked kicking by Floyd Johnson in seven non-essential and wholly superfluous rounds. Quintin, frankly speaking, was awful.

The outcome of the affair proved that boxing, in some cases at least, is on the level. Quintin was on the level also. He stayed that way for the full count after 1 minute and 47 seconds of fighting in the final round.

Merely to disprove the claim that many are socked but few get up, Romero essayed to regain the perpendicular ore the timekeeper had dished with the doleful ten but was a bit tardy with the effort. In this he was a failure just as he failed in everything he attempted during the evening.

Johnson wasn't such a much, either. He was out of shape and several times it was a matter of touch and go as to whether he would last the limit himself. He stepped into a left hook in the first round and sat down and several times thereafter, particularly in the fifth round, he was so tired that a nudge with the elbow would have finished him. Romero didn't even have that. Nothing, in fact, but real and definite courage.

Kingston Loses To Newburgh

Local High School Debating Team Is Defeated By Newburgh Academy Debaters—Newburgh Wins Rutgers Cup.

The Newburgh Academy debating team won the Rutgers trophy for this section Thursday evening, when the team defeated the local high school debaters. It was the second unanimous decision for the Newburgh debaters in the Rutgers Interscholastic Debating Association on the proposition, "Resolved, that the United States should adopt the Bok prize peace plan as a part of its foreign policy." Newburgh sustained the negative and will receive the cup emblematic of the championship of this section of the league.

The Kingston team included Theodore Thielpape, J. M. Pennington, Mayer Kaplovitz and Milton Katz, alternate.

The Newburgh team was composed of Meyer Rider, Edward Murtfeldt and Gerow Crowell, captain, and Harold Cohen, alternate.

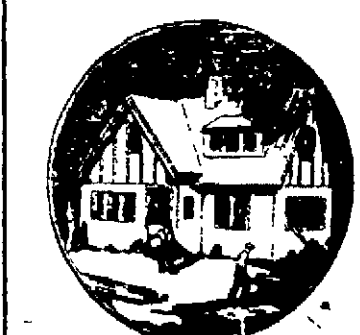

The judges who awarded the decision to the Newburgh team were Principal William J. Reagan, Oakwood School, of Poughkeepsie, Prof. A. Bruce Bennett, New Paltz Normal School, and Prof. C. A. Hildy, State College for Teachers, Albany.

Science Gleanings

As a result of tagging lobsters, the Connecticut board of fisheries and game has found that a lobster is capable of traveling about a mile a day under water.

WILBUR DOWNED THE KELLY ALL STAR NINE.

The Wilbur team downed the Kelly All Star baseball team at Wilbur Sunday, score 10 to 5. It was a hard blow for the Kellys, as they were all done up in their new uniforms and were anxious to beat the Wilbur bunch. Wilbur had (Hank) O'Grady, the well known Lake Mohonk pitcher, on the mound and Hank sat down no less than sixteen of the Kelly tribe by the strikeout route. "Doc" Dougherty caught Hank in fine style.

Houghtaling was on the mound for the Kellys and was hit hard by Wilbur boys getting fifteen safeties. Hinkler, who is one of the best catchers in the downtown section, was on the receiving end.

These two teams are expected to meet again this season and the game should be a hummer. Any teams wishing games with the Wilbur team communicate with Frank Schick, 545 Abbot street, etc.
